SARATOGA MEETING. Schn A. Drake Loses Money on Wes and Also Loges the Horse-Concerning Annetta Lady and Blinkers-Incldent Points to Weak Spot in Rule.

Sanatoga, N. Y., Aug. 20.-The heat and me rather ordinary racing, the poorest of the meeting, gave little chance to enthuse over the opening of the third week of the meeting here; still a big growd journeyed out to the track. A shower which fell about noon gave the track, which had been lightning fast, a top of soft mud. This brought numerous cratches and upset conditions and calcula-

The one stake of the day, the Kentucky, for two-year-olds, was won by Clara Huron. On all her recent races this filly had a right to be favorite, but her chances were overlooked some, and Bemay, a filly from the stables of John E. Madden, who has been on the crippled list for some time, was made a decided choice. In the race Bemay failed to cut a figure and Clara Huron won easily. The latter was fidden by a boy named Heffernan, and this cridently helped the odds against the filly, the general impression here seemed to be t this boy was a novice of but little ability.

The sooner this rating is passed for one long way higher up, the better it will be the the doubting ones. The lad does not get many mounts, and when he does it is usually a some forlorn hope, but what he gets he makes the most of. Many of the so called popular riders are no better horsemen; in fact, if Hefferman doesn't loom into promimence before long some clever judges will be greatly mistaken. The other day he was all but left at the post on Macy, Jr., and nine riders out of the ten would have pulled up, gradually and by really heady work landed his horse in third place, enabling his employers, or, to be exact, the owners of the horse, to cash a nice bet for those who had backed the horse all three ways.

To-day, in the run down the back stretch he was in tight quarters on the rail and few would have taken the chance of getting through, but in an instant he seemed to reason that if he could hold his place to the turn there would be more room and he would get through. This is just what happened, and the ground he saved in this way enabled the ally to win.

This boy looks now to be the only find of The meeting. As a rule, the racing here fur-nishes several promising youngsters, and many earn engagements that later on bring whem rich contracts, but this year the de-velopments have been few and far between. In fact, this lad and Freishon, who rides for the Haymans, appear to be the only develop-During the afternoon Frank O'Neill sold

At this oe O'Neill makes a good profit. of Peg Wofflington cost $7,000 and the Dossie colt $1,700. As Penarris more than paid for himself when he won the Grand Union Hotel Stakes last week, the margin is easy to appreciate. O'Neill says that thus far gacing horses pays better than riding them as for selling them, that is the best end the game.

The Schwartzes are Wall Street men who earlier in the spring bought Bat Masterson from John E. Madden. They now have eight in their string, which is to be trained by John Miller, and mean to make numerous additions before the season is over. They also contemplate buying some mares which they will quarter on a farm they will buy, as they are anxious in time to see their colors carried by homebred ones.

Wes, who was an odds on favorite for the fifth race, carried a lot of money for his swner. John A. Drake, and his friends, but at no stage of the journey was he close enough no to be dangerous. He was pocketed pracsically the entire distance, and all Garner could do was sit on him and wait in behind for the opening that railed to come. In addition to this disappointment of the race Mr. Drake lost his horse. He was entered to be sold for $800, and two claims were made for him, one by George S. Davis, who had Wrenne in the race, and one by M. L. Hayman, who started Right Royal. They drew lots and Hayman was the fortunate one, for he gets a really good horse for $1.450.

There was a rumor later that Hayman's claim was a friendly one and the horse would to the old stable, but it is hardly possible that he would be a party to anything so Moreover, Hayman has suffered at times in races, and it is only just he should keep bargain when he secures one as he did to-day. To complete Mr. Drake's troubles his rider, Garner, was suspended for three days for disobedience at the post.

C. Cornehlsen, the clerk of the scales, was ill to-day, and Algernon Daingerfield, the assistant secretary of the Jockey Club, officiated n his place. The trips from the secretary's office to the judge's stand here are long at any time, but this afternoon in the sweltering heat they were especially trying, and when "weights were announced after the closing event Daingerfield was, to quote him, "all in.

Starter Cassidy, who went to New York to spend Sunday with his family, came up on one f the morning trains and a delay en route all but caused him to miss the first race Judge Pettingill, who was for years a starter in all parts of the country, volunteered to fill in the gap, and was at the post when Cassidy

Jack Joyner, trainer of Water Pearl, reports to-day a big improvement in the colt's condition and says, with no setbacks, he will pull around all right. As to the colt's being able to start in the Futurity, he of course could not say anything definite, but he intimated that if it was possible to fit him for the race he to the post. Joyner is anxious have him fit for the race, for he is confident he has a good colt, and takes the general view that the eligible list is scarce of topnotchers.

Annetta Lady's victory did not bring any profit to the persons that control her, despite the long price against her. When Vic Hollar, her trainer, made the entry on Saturday he neglected to comply with the recently adopted rule that if a horse is to wear blinkers in a race it must be so stated in the entry blank. When Koerner came to the scales to weigh out for the mare he declared among his tack linkers. He was told that none had been claimed, and this was reported to the trainer and owner. Both pleaded that the mare would not run her race without them and and owner. Both pleaded that the mare would not run her race without them and went further, saying she would not leave the post, but, judging from results, she does not need them, for she broke in good style and ran probably the best race of her career.

The fact that she would not be equipped as in her other races was noised around, and this helped to make the big price against her. The incident seems to point to one weak spot in the recent rule in regard to blinkers. A trainer can neglect to put his declaration on the entry blank for a horse that does absolutely need blinkers, then plead forgetfulness. Of course, the officials would have the right to question the error, but the fact remains that the public would suffer.

Tom Cogan, who fell in the steeplechase, ran in the name of C. S. Miller, with P. Gellagare, who rode him, down as trainer. This is the horse whose entry was refused at Brighton Beach. No reason was given for the raling at the time, but it was said that it was believed he had been purchased and was being raced for advertising purposes. Under the rules, Gallagher, having a trainer's license, could not accept outside mounts, so to-night he gave up his trainer's license and will attick to riding.

The other day Jack Bennett engaged Louie Smith to ride one of his two-year-olds, and his orders were: "Louie, there is $10 in the office for you for the mount. If you get away from the post in the first three, there is $10 more coming. If you show in the first three at the end of a furlong it means $10 more. The same goes for into the home stretch, and at the finish it is $25 more if you show and a hundred it you win.

Bennett's colors trailed home in the ruck, and Louie got the $10 that was in the office. To-day Bennett met Louie and told him with all seriousness that a new rule had been passed whereby a rider was to deposit $40 and pay forfeit if he did not show prominent at the points specified. Smith listened attentively, then said: "A good rule, but I'll turn owner."

New Plan of Racing Tried—Blue Hill Wins

READVILLE, Mass., Aug. 20.—The feature of the opening day of the Grand Circuit meeting at this track to-day was the fact that there was open pool selling. Andy Welch started up business, and as soon as it became known that he was posting odds under the pavilion the crowd rushed into get their money down. That pool selling was permitted by the New England Horse Breeders' Association, after cutting to the average of the set of the starter of the set of the set

Just before the races began the association received an opinion from former Attorney Herbert Parker that betting could be carried on at this track legally. The State police got wind of the betting and arrested a clerk employed by Welch. He will appear in court at Dedham to-morrow, and a test case will be made. Accident to Westerner Causes One Match to Go by Default.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20.—An accident to Nat Emerson of the Western doubles champion pair will cause the East vs. West match in the national championship tennis tournament to go by default to-morrow morning. Emerson, while practising in Chicago a fer days ago, injured his leg. When this defauit was made known by Supt. Barrett of the casino he said the main match to hold the championship court in the morning would be-between Raymond D. Little, captain of the American international challenging team of this year, and Frederick G. Anderson, the

New Jersey State champion.

There appears to be an unusual number of accidents among the expert wielders of the racquet this season. Emerson, whose partner, Louis H. Waidner, has played several times for the national doubles title, has shown remarkable form this season, and it was believed that the East vs. West match would produce better tennis than the challenge for the championship. F. B. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett, Eastern champions, will face Beals C. Wright and Holcombe Ward, present holders of the twin cups, on Wednesday morning across the net. As the draw of the 117 aspirants for national championship honors now stands, Alexander, formerly intercollegiate champion, should have an easy way to the final in the top half.

The lower section of the draw bristles with easy way to the final in the top half.

The lower section of the draw bristles with class. William A. Larned will meet his young rival, Karl H. Behr, Jr., in the second round, and it is the belief of the followers of the sport here that this time it will be the Yale player's turn to win. Veterans and comers are much mixed in this section, among the number being Richard Stevens, Henry W. Slocum, Harold K. Hackett, Raymond D. Little, F. G. Anderson, H. D. Register, Irving C. Wright and N. W. Niles.

MISS SUTTON AT NEWPORT.

She and Willing Spencer Win a Match at

Mixed Doubles. NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20 .- Cottagers and townspeople gathered at the Casino this afternoon to watch the exhibition tennis matches which were arranged in honor of Miss May Sutton. It was expected she would have for her opponent in the doubles Mrs Birger-Wallach, who is looked on as the strongest woman player in Newport, but instead Mrs. Wallack's sister, Miss Edna Barger, was her opponent, Willing Spencer Miss Sutton's partner and J. D. E. Jones

Miss Barger's partner.
The strong, swinging drive of Miss Sutton attracted much attention, it seeming as if she would drive the ball out of court but it generally landed inside the lines. Mr. Jones played a steady game, but Miss Barger was no match for Miss Sutton, while Jones ex-celled Spencer, which about evened the team up.

Miss Sutton and Mr. Spencer beat Miss Barger and Mr. Jones, 6-3, 6-2.
In another match Miss Eleanore Sears and Cyril Hatch beat Mrs. Barger-Wallach and Herbert Harriman, 3-6, 6-4.

Sheppard, Tyrell, Fulton and Halls were members of last year's team which competed against the Seventh on their visit here. Business prevents Sergt. Fulton from going with his comrades, who regard him as the best all round shot in the world. Private Paige, however, scored 141 out of a possible 150 in the final stage of the King's prize at Hisley, which was the best score recorded. SARATOGA, Aug. 20.—The bookmakers had away the best of it to-day with the downfall of four favorites, two of them as odds on. W. H. Snyder's Bernay, backed from 7 to 5 down to 8 to 10 in the Kentucky Stakes for two-year-old fillies, five and a half furionss, was badly beaten. The winner of this event, Louis Cella's Clara Huron, enabled the Western crowd to win a bundle, as she was heavily backed at 5. She was breezing all the way, passing the judges two-lengths be-fore C. The Sullivan clan put over a real good thing in Samuel H. Harris, backed from 8 down to 5, in the fifth race; at a mile. NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Turn About Wish the Whitewash in Chi cago, New Yorks Losing.

It was turn about with the whitewash in Chicago, the National League leaders applying it to the New Yorks yesterday. The Cubs are within twenty games of a hundredth victory, and having forty-three games more to play the chances are they will get there easily. Other winners yesterday were the Distance over Brooklyn and the Cincinnatis Pittsburgs over Brooklyn and the Cincinnatis over Boston. The results: Chicago, 3; New York, 0. Pittsburg, 2; Brooklyn, 1.

error filled the bases. Then the Chicago outfielders caught two mighty swats, either of which would have broken up the game had it fallen safe. That ended the discussion, much to the relief of the big and badly frightened crowd.

McGinnity pitched grandly except in the fifth inning, when the locals bunched four of their six hits and collected three runs. At that, the iron man would not have fared so badly had he refrained from one fatal mistake. He was trying to pass Kling and accidentally let one go within John's reach. Kling at once killed the ball and with that swat went New York's golden visions. Both teams fielded well, the Cubs less cleverly than the visitors, whose work fairly sparkled with brilliancy. At critical times, however, Chicago braced up and made good—as, for example, in the thrilling final inning.

The teams battled along on even terms, neither being able to locate the platter for a run, despite the most desperate work on both sides. Men kept getting to the bases for New York, only to be cut down or left standing, while McGinnity was choking off the Cubs in order. Chance began Chicago's half of the fifth with a sharp two bagger. Steinfeldt sacrificed, Tinker singled. Evers tore off a drive. McGinnity, throwing to second, hit Tinker on the hoof, the ball bouncing and both runners moving up. It was decided to walk Kling and make a monkey out of Pfeister, the worst batter in the world. Three were fired wide when McGinnity let one slip too close. Kling at once hit with terrific vigor, accring two runs and dealing New York the death blow.

After that peace prevailed and McGinnity had no more trouble. New York fought on, hoping against hope, until the ninth. Seymour began the last rally with a sharp drive which Evers nailed by a great leap. Devlin hit into the crowd for two bases. McGeann followed with a single. Dahlen hit to Steinfeldt whose throw to second was dropped by Evers. Bases full and only one out; Strang's whack looked safe, but Slagle was there as it came down. Bowerman met the ball full

Twenty-five Minutes Work by the Crew Pleases Coach Wray. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN

BOTRNE END. Aug. 20.— The Harvard oarsmen were out early this morning for twenty-five minutes work. Coach Wray was pleased with the practice. Richardson is making satisfactory progress, though not yet able to resume his place in the boat. Glass still walks with a cane and it is doubtful whether he will be able to take part in the race with Cambridge, though Dr. Manahan, who is attending him, has not given up hopes of getting him in condition.

Harvard paddled over the full course this riarvard paddled over the full course this afternoon. The men showed excellent form. The Cambridge crew practised for haif an hour. The Cantabs this morning paddled up to Marlow Point and then rowed the course of three and a quarter miles. The time was 18 minutes and 10 seconds. Harvard rowed the same course in 18 minutes and 8 seconds.

Rough Playing in Polo Match. NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 20 .- The Point Judith Country Club polo tournament was finished to-day when Myopia and New Haven met in the finals for the Rhode Island cups. New Haven received seven goals by handicap. The game was characterized by rough playing throughout. Stoddard was thrown from his pony in the first period, and in the second period Milburn's pony received a blow from a polo mallet which caused a fracture of the animal's leg. The pony was shot soon after the accident. New Haven played an aggressive game and wor the match and cups by a score of 12% to 9. The lineup: New Haven—No. 1, R. G. Keeney, 1; No. 2, C. P. Dixon, 2d, 2; No. 3, L. E. Stoddard, 3; back, Harold Phipp, 2. Total, 8.

MORE ERRORS; AGAIN ADEFEAT

NEW YORK AMERICANS DROP TO FOURTH PLACE.

Play Inferior Ball, While Work of White Sox is Superior-Fifteenth Consecutive Victory for the Latter-Philadelphias Also Hitting the Tebeggan.

This is a bad time of the year to strike a slump, but the New York Americans are ex-periencing one and Connie Mack's Phila-delphias are in the same boat. Both lost yesterday, the New Yorks to the Chicagos, who won their fifteenth consecutive victory, and the Champions to the St. Louis team. The New Yorks were passed by the Clevelands, who did not play. The Detroits beat the Bostons. The New York team has been in a losing vein since the injury to Chase a month ago. Chase is practically batting on one foot. Naturally his batting suffers from his lameness, and this makes a difference n the run getting. The results:

Chicago, 4; New York, 1. St. Louis, 7; Philadelphia, 1. Detroit, 6; Boston, 4.

At Washington-Rain. STANDING OF THE CLUBS. CHICAGO (A. L.), 4; NEW YORK (A.IL.)1,

CMICAGO (A. L.), 4: NEW YORK (A.:L.i),
Once again yesterday the New York Americans held the White Sox level for a stretch of innings, then cracked, clustered errors and went down before the considerably superior playing of the Chicagos. The playing of the Sox, was superior; that of the New Yorks decidedly inferior. The hillimen just now are playing like a team that has lost its morale. They are not hitting for one thing; but neither did the Sox hit to any extent yesterday. Orth pitched a fine game, better even than White pitched, but the Sox comported themselves like master workmen behind White, while the New Yorks disported like raw apprentices behind Orth.

The New Yorks had a chance to score in the third inning, and threw it away because Delebanty did not have his wits about him. With Del on third and Keeler on first, the latter started down. Sullivan threw to White and made a bad throw of it. White reached for the ball, which caromed off his hand toward Isbell. Had Delehanty been on his toes he could have run home. There were three New Yorkers left on bases in this inning. Chase was the last out, swinging at a slow ball and giving Tannehill an easy chance.

The game was one of quickly accruing inning. Chase was the last out, swinging at a slow ball and giving Tannehill an easy ohance.

The game was one of quickly accruing putouts for four innings. In the fifth the New Yorks fell down hard and handed the game over to the Sox. There were four misplays by the local infield and one by Umpire Evans which made a big difference in the game. Davis bunted, and though Laporte fielded the ball nicely and sent it to Chase a yard ahead of Davis, Evans said safe. However, in spite of Evans's raw ruling, the New Yorks with good fielding could have prevented a score. Williams juggled Dougherty's grounder, Davis going to third. He scored on Sullivan's force of Dougherty, which would have been the third out if Williams had not miscued. Tannehill doubled to right and scored Sullivan, and White came in on a wild and needless throw to the plate by Chase. In the same inning Laporte crossed Elberfeld, which may have caused the Kid to make a bad throw of White's grounder, but that misplay was not injurious.

New York's batting weakness was strikingly in evidence in the sixth when Chase singled, took second on a wild pitch and stayed there while the next three batters jabbed away coyly and innocuously. The erstwhile hilitopper, Pat Dougherty, hit through Keeler's domain for a home run in the seventh inning. In the ninth a double by Williams and a single by Conroy contrived to the welding of the first New York run since last Thursday.

SUPERVISORS GRANT PERMISSION FOR CUP RACE.

Roads Which Will Make Up the Course — Dangerous Turn Avoided—Heavier Grade of Oil to Be Used Than Heretofore— Location of Grand stand to Be Changed Permission was granted yesterday by the Permission was granted yesterday by the Nassau County Board of Supervisors for the running of this year's Vanderblit cup race and American elimination trials over a thirty mile course in that county. William Jones of Oyster Bay, chairman of the board, and Edward C. Willets of North Hempstead voted in favor of the permit, but Robert Seabury of Hempstead voted against it. Supervisor Seabury said in defence of his action: "I don't believe this board or the Legislature has any right to give away the public highways to be made a racecourse of."

The course over which the fifteen candidates for the American team and the eighteen drivers in the third contest for the William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., cup will compete is close to thirty miles long, and the two contests will thirty miles long, and the two contests will accordingly be about 300 miles in length each as there will be ten rounds of the circuit for each race. The elimination trials to select the team of five cars and drivers will be run on September 2 and the Vanderblit cup will be contested for on October 6. The roads making up the course are as follows:

To begin at the intersection of the Jericho turnpike and Mineola a venue, and run easterly To begin at the intersection of the Jericho turnpike and Mineola a venue, and run easterly through Jericho and East Norwich road to East Norwich at McQueens, then westerly along the Flushing and North Hampstead turnpike to Bull's Head corner at Greenvale, then southerly over the back road, so called, to Old Westbury, then westerly to Mineola road, then northerly to the Flushing and North Hempstead turnpike, then westerly over this road through the village of Manhasset to the junction of the Lakeville road, and then southerly to Lakeville, then easterly to Searington, then southerly over Mineola avenue road to the starting point.

By using this course that part of Jericho turnpike which has had trolley tracks laid on it recently will not be used, nor will the drivers have to contend with the dangerous "S' turn at Albertson's Corner, where Foxhall Keene came to grief last year. There will be one long hill on the course, where, coming out of lower Manhasset, the cars will elimb a grade half a mile long, ranging from 8 to 12 per cent.

It is likely that the location of the grand stand will be changed. Last year it was 300 yards west of the junction of Jericho turnpike and Willis avenue, but this year it may be at some point between Mineola and Jericho. The permit of the board of supervisors allows the use of the course between 5 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon on the two race days, with the understanding that the American Automobile Association is to oil the entire course at once, pay for all flagmen, as well as pay all accident damages caused by the race between the hours of 5 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The board has ordered Sheriff Gildersleeve to take charge of the police arrangements and to see that none off the crossings is neglected and that the spectators are well protected. The people living in the violnity of Manhasset were so anxious to have the race run near their homes that they got up a petition favoring it.

A meeting of the racing board of the American Automobile Association was held yesterday to consider several points in connection with the third contest for the Vanderbilt oup. One innovation in connection with this year's contest will be the employment of figures to indicate turns in the course, railroad crossings, &c. This change has been made because many of the foreign drivers are not familiar with English, and it will be easier for a driver going at full speed to understand a figure than to read a banner with "Sharp turn to the left" printed on it. Arrangements have been made to begin with "Sharp turn to the left" printed on it.

Arrangements have been made to begin the work of oiling the course within a couple of weeks. A heavier grade of oil is to be used than was employed for the two previous contests. The report that a resolution would be offered probibiting the use of detachable rims for the race was pronounced "ridiculous" by a member of the racing board. The statement again was made that the distance of the American elimination trials would be the same as that of the Vanderbit race.
